NIGHT AND FOG IN ZONA

A reputed Korean film critic invites us to a journey with his beloved director Wang Bing.

One day my old friend Wang Bing, a Chinese director living in Beijing, called me and suggested to go to Yunnan where he shoots a documentary. I've always been curious about his shooting scene. All along the winter I've followed Wang Bing with my camera from the psychiatric hospital in a nameless suburb city to the jungle near Laotian border. There are the zona folded in wind and fog. This documentary is the record of that winter, the essay about the people of China, and the adventure-action movie done by friendship.
